Alex Soppe

Civil Disobedience

Only summary

(1) Lack of government to let the people follow the higher law of instinct.

(2) If government cannot be significantly "lowered", at least make it "better".

(3) Express yourself DIRECTLY, not through others. Do not merely agree with people with similar beliefs as yours, express yourself directly.

(4) Agree with the right, not the majority.

(5) Be yourself, not a machine for the govt.

(6) Do not support something you do not believe in (i.e. taxes for war).

(7) All you need do is a little, if you are right, others will follow.

(8) If you are against govt, say so and be put in prison, you will make your statement.

SP I arrived w/ my family to NYC 30 yrs ago, when I was 12. We were from Puerto Rico, and we came here to look for a better life. The family consisted of 7 people: my parents, 3 bros, grandma, and me. The times were difficult, and we all had to work much to maintain ourselves.

One very warm day of summer

The driver

1. Fueron a casa.
2. Donde puse la maleta?
3. ¿Compro música?
4. Traje un libro para Ud.
5. Dio una propina al mozo.
6. Fue necesario.
7. Puso el coche.
8. Leé la revista.

99/15 fr.

B/A Many hispanic parents don't usually give an allowance to thier children. Generally, if the young ones recieve money it is on special occasions like birthdays, Christmas, and New years, or visits from generous relatives or when they get good grades. However, the young don't have many expenses. The parents pay for college, books, transportation costs and small things. The money given to the parents to thier kids on such occasions have different names in each country. For example in mexico they call it 'El Domingo' because traditionally the young recie this money on Sundays. In other countries, like Columbia they call it "la vuelta", the quantity of money that is given mainly as birthday gift,

Do you know who the Porteños are? ~~That is~~ It's They call the habitants of Buenos Aires. The capital of Argentina is a cosmopolitan and big city. For its population, it's the 2nd ~~one~~ Spanish speaking city of the world. The Porteños feel very proud of the city. And why? Because there are many interesting things ~~that~~ to do & see in Buenos Aires.

Me gusta ir al Central Park. Está cerca de mi casa. Voy los domingos, ~~Juego~~ Juego allí con mis amigos. ~~Voy~~ ~~media hora~~ media hora para llegar al parque. Cuesta cincuenta ¢ para llegar.

1. ~~Me~~ te llamas
2. se ~~pusieron~~ pusieron
3. alegra
4. se quita
5. ~~quedará~~ quedarán
6. ~~se~~ se ~~despertando~~ se despertando

1. se acostó
2. se atreverá
3. se dirige
4. sorprendió - surprise
5. quitándose
6. despidiendo

Chapter 27

¡What luck Carlos has!

Carlos's friends the married with Richard. One of them said: - ~~What Carlos has got~~! To get married to a girl that rich!

((This marriage won't last a day.)), thought Richard, but he kept silent.

Carlos and Mercedes returned in one week. The two seemed very happy. Tom noticed a change started in Mercedes personality. Now she was a person

. She seemed to - to Carlos

The neighbors had to earn

Finally, Richard had the opportunity to ask her;

Well, ~~what's up, kid~~

~~Wolfred~~ answered his friend - the capital is magnificent, the streets, ~~as like Cuba~~ ~~the~~ O'Higgins Avenue, and Delicias ~~pass~~ ride are very beautiful! I like the Bellas Artes Palace, and ~~pass on~~ ~~a afternoon~~ we ~~spend passed~~ a very interesting ~~afternoon~~ in the Saint Luc Park, ~~as~~ as for the Viña del Mar, it's a stupendous resort.

No, no - insisted Rich - I don't want a tourist guide. I wish to know that which happened to change Mercedes' personality so much.

Well, ~~I'll~~ I'm explain it to you - said Carlos with a smile - A week before the wedding, we had a brief opportunity to be alone.

And this, in his own words, is ~~the~~ that which Carlos told:

Mercedes looked at herself in the mirror, with woe, and said:

- Carlos, I have to ask you an important question.

- Why do you want to marry me?

Surprised @ the question, he answered with: - For your money.